

Finding Common Ground

September, 2021

Up Front

Introducing the Marketing & Promotion Circle! Membership & Marketing has been divided into two separate Functional Circles, thus doubling the ways that CGEV can reach out to—and support—new members! If you have an interest in marketing, outreach, social media, writing, blogging, photography, graphic art, etc, please talk with Ren about how you might contribute. If you'd like to focus on nourishing current members, contact Lisa in the Membership Circle with your leanings.

If you've been wanting to connect and be heard but don't know how, come to the Exploring "Community Voice" conversation Sunday, September 19, from 1-3m.

CIRCLE NEWS

Planning & Development: General Circle just consented to a major proposal that specifies our projected Architectural Portfolio—what kinds of units and structures we will build—and a Unit Mix Proposal—the projected numbers of each we propose to build. Accordingly, we are about to commission new and consistent drawings of the updated portfolio to be posted on the website and used in other promotional and presentation materials. ♦We are now delving deep into a detailed proposal for the site engineering from our engineer, Bobby Tucker, with Bodhi Land and Design, as well as exploring architectural options, focusing now on the Common House. ♦On the financial side, a number of members have stepped forward to join the LLC or up their contributions, taking advantage of the Catalyst 4-to-1 Matching Initiative, so that we are close to having raised $150,000 for pre-development expenses. We still need about $50,000 more, though, so others – please consider making an LLC contribution to continue to generate four times more money via Land Stewardship: After mighty contributions and efforts from many members over many months (with Paul, Bob, and Anthony doing the heaviest lifting over the spring and summer), the PV array is live and the barn is electrified! Jeffry coordinated a workday that included work by the road entrance, a trail crew, and post-hole digging for the garden fence. ♦On the horizon...there will be activity on the land starting Saturday afternoon 9/4 and ending midday Sunday 9/5. This will include firing of the biochar kiln, garden fence and barn-related work, possibly more. Saturday evening there will be a pot luck. Randy will send a message several days before with final details. ♦Some Circle members have started looking into supporting more pollinator plants & pollinators.

Membership & Marketing: A steady flow of newcomers contacted CGEV in the month of August and they are connecting with members in a variety of ways. ♦Open Houses are continuing on a monthly basis, providing up-to-date information and land tours. The next one is on Saturday, September 5, from 10am-noon. Stick around for the work day afterwards! ♦The weekly Racial Awareness Reading and Reflections Group continues to flourish as a result of steady participation, and a culture that supports honest sharing. The group has grown to 17 participants, both Common Ground members and people outside of the community. A good time for new people to join is approaching as we near the end of our current book and begin a new one. ♦The monthly Heart Sharing Circle event will be returning on September 10th after an August break.

functioning: there is no place where ALL members, whether on a circle or not, can come together and have their voices heard. Are others aware of this need as well? What do we, as a community, want to do about it? Please come together, whether you've been involved in the community for eight years or eight days, as we hold a space for seeing what wants to emerge on this topic. Zoom is not an option due to no internet on the land. A written summary will be published afterwards and input will be sought from those who cannot be there.

CGEV BYLAWS Discussion

Planning & Development

Fourth Saturday, October 23, 3-5pm

Among the several documents CGEV must have in place as we transition to a housing cooperative will be a set of bylaws for the community (approved by the community). We have set aside October's 4th Saturday event for a discussion of a DRAFT set of bylaws. Those who have completed a pre-reservation form and others who have not yet completed a pre-reservation form, but intend to reside in the CGEV Village, will be invited. The workshop will include such questions as:

- Why do we need bylaws?
- Where did the draft come from?
- What's the current status of this document?
- The text is deliberately written in "legalize". What seems confusing or in need of change?
- WARNING: THERE WILL BE HOMEWORK INVOLVED

Stay tuned for additional information. Or, contact Paul, voss@hawkweed.net, if you can't wait!
